Title: This is OC Pathways (Rev. 11/2018)

- [Narrator] In order to succeed, in an increasingly global economy, the next generation will need to innovate, adapt, and create. In Orange County, education models are evolving to reflect tomorrows demands. This is OC Pathways, partnerships for college and career success. In a traditional model, students take classes based on graduation requirements as well as college goals. Others pursue vocational courses. OC Pathways is an initiative that integrates college and career readiness by linking schools, community colleges, and universities with regional businesses and community partners. Recognizing that all students need both academic and career preparation to succeed in the 21st century. Together, we are building educational super highways that combine standards-based curriculum with real-world professional learning. Placing students from middle school through high school and college on the road to rewarding careers. Led by the Orange County Department of Education and the LA Orange County Regional Consortium of community colleges, OC Pathways comprises numerous K12 school districts, community colleges, universities, regional agencies, and scores of industry and community partners. Our collective goal? To connect the dots, to prepare students for a high demand, high skill, and high wage careers in key industry sectors, ensuring a brighter future for Orange County. Aligning coursework to combine rigorist academics with career preparation, creating work-based learning opportunities for students, empowering educators with next generation learning strategies, partnering with business and industry leaders to strengthen the 21st century workforce. This is OC Pathways.
