

OCDE Services for Language Learners presents

Interpreters AND Translators CONFERENCE

Connecting Cultures through Effective Interpretation & Translation

Districts will learn how to create or enhance an interpretation unit at their sites. Interpreters, translators, community liaisons, and bilingual staff will receive powerful tools and best practices for IEP meetings, cultural diversity, technology and presentation skills.

Marjory A. Bancroft, M.A.

Marjory directs Cross-Cultural Communications (CCC), the only national training agency for community interpreting. She also founded the leading national programs in the field. She speaks and keynotes across the country and abroad and has sat on committees to develop national and international standards for interpreters. CCC has more than 250 licensed trainers in 35 states and six other countries, and its interpreting textbooks and manuals are purchased in 22 countries.

Keynote Speakers

Giovanna Carriero-Contreras

Co-Founder of Cesco Linguistic Services, Giovanna is an expert in translation and interpreting services, and a nationally recognized interpreting trainer. As a passionate language access advocate, her personal mission is to ensure that limited English proficiency individuals in the US have the equal access to public services. Giovanna chairs the interpreting standards committee at ISO.
