

Erin Timberman is the Coordinator for Parent and Family Engagement at Irvine Unified School District. She has been in education for 14 years, and can't imagine a better career for herself. Currently within her role she leads parenting workshops on various topics, oversees the district community liaisons and interpreters, and supports the greater Student Support Services department. She is passionate about helping all families feel welcome and part of the greater school community. When not at work you can find her with her two kids and husband outside playing and having fun.
