Engaging the Laughing Heart in Education

Wouldn't it be nice in these times of too much to do, you could find some practical ways to lighten your load? Mark Therrien will show you how to stay connected to your joy, laughter, and compassion. In the difficult times especially, we cannot lose this connection. His wonderful collection of stories and slides... some funny, some hilarious, and some that might bring a tear... contain messages that can change the way we see ourselves, the way we work, and the way we live. Re-connect to your laughter and joy.

Mark draws on his own experience in the classroom and speaking at hundreds of education conferences and in-services. In addition to his K-6 experience, he has taught at the medical college at the University of Hawaii and published in professional journals including Psychiatry and Journal of Medical Education.
