OCAD Mission Statement

To inspire academic excellence and build 21st century skills that prepares students for college and careers.

Alumni Words of Wisdom

"Few other extra-curricular activities have been as impactful and influential. Joining Academic Decathlon allowed me to refine my studying, writing, oratory, and self-discipline skills. I believe that exploring a theme through a breadth of disciplines is the epitome of a liberal arts education. I am a more well-rounded, educated person today, as a result of OCAD."

Westminster leads a pack of five schools to CAD

Marking a first in the 47-year history of the Orange County Academic Decathlon, five Orange County schools have been selected to advance to next month's state decathlon in Sacramento.

Cheers rang out in a packed Orange Coast College auditorium the night of February 17 as perennial powerhouse Westminster High School was named the overall team winner with 50,981.8 points. Along with a special plaque, individual medals and local bragging rights, the school received a $4,000 travel stipend from the Orange County Academic Decathlon Association, which joined OCDE in announcing this year's winners.

Westminster has burnished its reputation as an OCAD dynasty in recent years, taking first place in 2010, 2011, 2013 and now 2015. But as we said, it won't be the only Orange County school advancing to the next round.

Woodbridge High in the Irvine Unified School District, Valencia High in the Placentia-Yorba Linda Unified School District, Trabuco Hills High in the Saddleback Valley Unified School District and La Quinta High in the Garden Grove Unified School District also earned their tickets to the California Academic Decathlon after posting some of the highest team scores in the state.

Here's a list of all of this year's winning Orange County teams by division:

DIVISION 1

Peterson Scholarship Recipient: Divya Prajapati

Divya Prajapati, 2015 Peterson Scholarship Recipient

Divya Prajapati, a four-year participant on the Woodbridge High School Academic Decathlon team, is the epitome of a champion decathlete. She has served as the team captain for the last two years, exemplifying the qualities of academic excellence, leadership, diligence, and commitment to learning. She is also the perfect role model for her teammates, as she has a contagious enthusiasm for learning, always goes the extra mile to help others, and holds the spirit of team work in its highest regard. Divya has not just become one of the highest scoring decathletes in the county, she has become, as her coaches would describe, "The Ambassador" for Academic Decathlon.

Divya stated that she learned two important things from OCAD. First, she has become a stronger leader, noting, "Over the past four years, I've become more self-confident, motivated, empathetic, and diligent as captain." Second, OCAD has given her the passion for learning about all subjects. Divya says, "The unique part of OCAD is that you can only succeed if you embrace the curriculum and engage yourself in understanding, instead of simply memorizing. From experience, the only way that happens is if you're passionate about learning and committed to the competition."

Throughout her four years in Academic Decathlon, Divya has demonstrated continuous growth in all ten subjects. She has received a total of 31 individual medals, including four in the California Academic Decathlon competition last year.

An excerpt from Divya's University of California personal statement sums up her experience with Academic Decathlon: "Even more importantly however, my 'aficion' [a word meaning 'true passion' in Spanish, and a word Divya learned through Academic Decathlon] constantly drives me to embrace the world's wealth of knowledge, to always open myself up with an optimistic and welcoming attitude, and to take on any new challenges. While I value my team's tangible achievements, the heavy medals and shiny trophies, my greatest achievement and pride in [Academic] Decathlon is my 'aficion,' as I will now forever love the essence of the competition itself: learning."

*The OCAD Peterson Scholarship Award is presented annually to an overall outstanding decathlete who has demonstrated exceptional diligence and persistence as well as great concern for others – named for the founder of Academic Decathlon, Dr. Robert Peterson, former Orange County Superintendent of Schools. Honorees selected for this award exemplify what OCAD is all about.

Hooper Scholarship Recipient: Leo Lagarde

Leo Lagarde, a two-year participant on the Magnolia High School Academic Decathlon team, is a true example of grit, determination, and dedication to education. His coaches describe his diligence and constant desire to improve himself, along with his intellectual curiosity and his unwavering kindness, as a few of the facets that have lead to Leo's success and selection as a co-captain for the Academic Decathlon team. In the excerpts below, Leo expresses what Academic Decathlon has meant to him:

"I established a sense of self determination to commit to my school's Academic Decathlon team the summer after my sophomore year of high school. For two years prior, I had worked on improving my skills in water polo and swim, however I wanted to prove to my family, friends, and predominantly to myself, that I could achieve success on a team where physical capability was not the general point of attention. In the two years I've spent with Academic Decathlon, I obtained more than knowledge, friends and memories; I gained a second family."

To me, being on the Academic Decathlon team was one of the greatest decisions I have made in my high school career because it has encouraged me to finally open my eyes and become the diligent individual that I am. My Decathlon coaches awarded me the honor of being co-captain of the whole team for this year, and in turn, I stepped up to the challenge and with deliberation on my decision. I, with confidence and exuberance, helped steer my team towards success. Without Academic Decathlon and the support of my team that came with it, I would not have been able to acknowledge that I had the capability of being a leader, and for that I am truly grateful."

With humility, kindness, enthusiasm, and dedication to improvement, Leo has never lost sight of his personal goals and his potential to succeed.

*The OCAD Hooper Scholarship Award is presented annually to a decathlete who has shown improvement in several areas of the competition, and has demonstrated unusual diligence and persistence in and out of the Academic Decathlon program. The award is named in honor of former Trabuco Hills High School Coach, Janet Hooper, in recognition of her many years of dedicated service to her teams and to OCAD.

You Matter: Volunteers Needed Locally!

Every year, 300 local professionals, educators, and community members come together to serve as judges and test proctors for the Orange County Academic Decathlon (OCAD) competition.

During the "JV" OCAD competition, the service each volunteer provides impacts Orange County 9th and 10th grade students directly. Volunteers are the driving force of the OCAD competitions! Without their time, talent, and professionalism, we would not be able to host these events for our students.

The "JV" OCAD competition offers three volunteer opportunities:

- Speech Judge—listening to prepared speeches on a variety of topics.
- Classroom Test Proctor—monitoring a classroom of test-takers and administering multiple choice tests.
- Super Quiz Relay Proctor—monitoring and scoring a team of decathletes during a live audience relay quiz in a gymnasium.

Do you want to help hard-working and dedicated teens achieve their scholastic goals? Do you want to utilize your personal and professional skills in a fast-paced and engaging volunteer opportunity?

If so, please visit the JV OCAD volunteer registration links above to learn more about our opportunities and to register as a volunteer.

We hope to see you at the Orange County "JV" Academic Decathlon!
