Jenny Ponzuric

Supports LCAP Priority 2

Outcomes:

- implementation of practices and procedures related to dyslexia
- understand the level of assistance a student may need by examining data and students' responses to instruction and intervention
- explore pre-referral steps when students are struggling with reading
- learn about completing a comprehensive assessment and writing a legally defensible psychoeducational report for students that special education is being considered

Jenny Ponzuric, Educational Consultant, has a background working as a school psychologist for 13 years prior to serving as a Director in Teacher Support Services within the Ventura County Office of Education. Jenny provided trainings as a school psychologist regarding supporting students with appropriate academic interventions as well as classroom/school-wide behavior interventions. During her three years as an administrator, Jenny oversaw the Induction Program for the special education teachers in Ventura County; she wrote curriculum and trained teachers for induction as well as added authorization programs for Autism, Orthopedic Impairments, and the Language and Academic Development preliminary credential. She is a Past President of both the CA Association of School Psychologists and the Ventura County Association of School Psychologists. Jenny has also earned her Post-Graduate Certificate in School Neuropsychology.
